

EVERYTHING FUNCTIONS ON A DESTINED SYSTEMATIC ORDER

(Translated from Darsehaye-Usooledeen by Dar-Rahe-Haq-Qum)

From the countless things that exist in this world, when we examine deeply a smallest atom to a largest planet, we shall find most perfect systems based on which everything functions. This fact has amazed even the most learned scientists of our age.

Cecil Boyce Hamman, the Principal of a school on Biology, writes on page 241 of his book, 'The Evidence of God in the Expanding Universe':

"When I examine a drop of water through a microscope and when I view at the farthest star through a telescope, I am extremely amazed and wonder-struck to see such perfect systems and arrangements, based on which, everything to come in existence can be described in advance with full evidence prior to it coming into existence".

Relying on this fact and based on the belief that there do exist rules and regulations made by a Supreme Being other than man, scientists search for the discovery of laws of Nature otherwise their every effort in this direction would be futile.

The nearest of all creation is the very existence of man himself. Despite years of research by experts of the world they have not as yet succeeded in finding all the secrets of the structure of human body.

Dr. Alexis Carl in his book, 'L'homme cet Inconnu' has acknowledged this fact by saying that the biologists have not reached all the facts of human body and a number of questions still remain to be solved.

For example, let us consider the human body as a big structure consisting of a number of small structures which are known as CELLS. Each of these cells is by itself a living thing. Each of these cells lives, consumes food, digests and excretes in perfect manner. They utilize all the minerals like iron, calcium and so also oxygen, hydrogen etc. The number of these cells in a human body exceed ten million. these living cells are very delicate and they fully co-operate with one another towards a common goal.

The cells constantly need food for their existence and this is being supplied from human blood with the help of human heart which works as a perfect pumping station through numerous body veins. Once the blood has delivered the necessary food to every cell, it carries back the poisonous matter that has accumulated in the cells. The heart in turn purifies them before circulating again in the body. All such functions are in such perfect order as not to cause any disruption in the smooth functioning of the human body.

SOME WONDERS OF HUMAN BODY

As scientific research progresses, physiologists have succeeded in discovering more and more secrets of Nature in the human body. Some parts of human body which were until recently considered to be of no use, they are now considered beneficial to human life.

For example, a gland known as THYMUS (youth gland) which is situated under a bone in the chest, was until recently considered useless and excessive part of human body. However, scientists have recently discovered that this gland plays an important part in defending the body against harm caused by external matters.

Some experts believe that this gland plays important part in strengthening the human sexual power and in reaching the age of adolescence. It controls the onset of maturity until the skeleton of human body is fully formed.

A more tiny gland than Thymus is the one situated inside the human brain and known as EPIPHYSE (Pineal gland). Until recently this part was considered as of no use in human body. But physiologists have now discovered that this gland is effective in controlling the human sexual powers and premature reaching of adolescence. It also guards the body against such other actions which could prove fatal for human life.

Appendix is now considered by some experts as an effective and useful part of human body in combating attack of cancer. Untimely removal of this part without any necessity is considered as a possible cause of spreading of cancer in human body.

As more and more research is made on the structure of human body, more and more secrets of nature come to light. Human ignorance does not justify a claim that a part of human body can be of no use to life.

Thus the formation of cells, the heart, the glands, etc in the human body show us that there exists a system on which they all function. Similarly on deep study, it will be found that the functioning of this great universe is based on a perfect systematic order.

For every small or big system of work in this world, there is a founder or designer without whom it does not come into being. Similarly, this leads us to believe that this vast universe cannot come into being and function systematically the way it does, without a designer or a maker. Thus the creation of this mighty universe is the work of Almighty Allah Who has created and who controls everything.
